A Work For

The Grand Jury (Editorial.)

The presiding Judge will call in session the March term of the Circuit Court next Monday. The instructions to the Grand Jury by the Court frequently constitutes the most interesting part, at least to the public, of the whole session. The violation of the liquor laws constituted the major part of the time as well as the sentiment, of the Court's address at the recent term of the Lincoln Circuit Court to his Grand Jury. The unusual, but however, the very appropriate happenings during this stage of the Court was an address in addition to the Court's instruction, by one of the prominent ministers of Stanford to this body, urging their duty in investigating the violation of this branch of the law.

The conditions in Lincoln County, we may assume, justified this stress and pointed demand on the part of those charged with the administration of law. Evidently, there had been wholesale violations of the law against the manufacturing, transportation, sale, and use of intoxicating liquors in that community of recent date, or this attention would not have been given to the disturbed condition of that community produced by this form of violation. If so, which we assume it to be, the Court and representative citizens very properly showed the determination to break it up. When the Court sits Monday here he will have in mind doubtless some acute conditions, if there be any, which need attention in this community, and it is very proper that it is through that inquisitorial body known as the Grand Jury that investigations be made. From the observations we have and the reports that come to us, there are no conditions in Garrard County at this time which make it necessary for the Grand Jury to spend its whole time in investigating this particular form of law infraction. While there may be here and yonder a case of sale or transportation and even it may turn out that an illicit still may be found in operation, yet we feel justified in saying that these will be only occasional and isolated and not of such frequency or of defiance that greatly disturb our community, and the Grand Jury will soon dispose of this form of criminality. However, there are some matters in which the Court could very properly and beneficially direct the attention of the Grand Jury. This body of twelve men are tax payers and house-keepers and presumed to represent the best sentiment of law and order and good government in the community. Its powers are inquisitorial and accusative. It elicits violations of law by report—commends, after investigation, faithful performance of public duty by officials and may very properly condemn any misfeasance or non-feasance on the part of any officer or set of officers. Tax paying, which is always a burden, and is pointedly so recently, on account of the great decline in values and stringency in money matters and high taxes too is of serious concern.

The purchasing power of money has increased one-half, thereby decreasing values at least one-half, but the assessment valuation for taxes has been reduced practically none. This necessarily makes it interesting to tax payers as to how the revenues are spent and whether wisely, efficiently and economically. This, the general public, in this community, at least, cannot claim more than a general knowledge. The law directs that the Fiscal Court publish annually a financial statement showing to whom the money has been paid that is collected in revenues. This the Fiscal Court has failed to do for nearly two years.

The Grand Jury might investigate as to why this violation of the law by the Fiscal Court. The Fiscal Court is making plans, as we are informed, to offer for sale at some future time at least $50,000.00 in bonds, voted heretofore by the people for the purpose of aiding in the construction of a federal highway across the county. That project, as is well known, went by the board, but the Court is considering substituting its will and judgment for that of the people who voted this money for another purpose. Before that Court takes this step it would be wise, indeed, we think, for the Grand Jury to investigate fully as to whether those who have had charge of and are presently in control of the County Road Fund and the spending of it have proven themselves competent and efficient in handling the County's business and the Grand Jury should make a frank statement and report to the people of its findings along this line.

Complaint is made, and perhaps justly so, that the roads of the county have not been ditched, and that the Road Department of the county has neglected its duty along this line, and, thereby much of the road fund, is claimed by some, has been wasted by this failure. We think the Court could afford to mention this fact to the Jury in his instructions and in turn the Grand Jury spend some time in hearing evidence and reporting its opinion and conclusions to the people that they may know the real facts. This is about the only way that the tax-payers can really get at the facts and know the whole truth. If those in charge have done reasonably well, let it be known. If they have done the best that could be done under the circumstances those who have been in charge should be commended. On the contrary, if high salaries have been paid to political favorites and incompetents and to those neglectful and indifferent as to public duty and the public has suffered thereby, this information should be given to the people. Six days, yes, even twelve days of the Grand Jury's time could be profitably spent, and more profitably spent, along this line than any other we know of.

SUCCESS ACHIEVED

Burley Association Repay Banks In Full

Four of the five banks in Garrard county loaned the Burley Tobacco Growers' Cooperative Association approximately $19,000, and have already been repaid half of this loan and now the announcement has been sent out that the balance will be repaid in the next few days.

It has been intimated that the $10,000.00 which the government offered to loan the association may never be asked for, if at all, it will be later in the season. This is proof conclusive of the success of the association, which a few doubters said could "never be financed." From the sales already made the association was able to repay these loans, within a month after it was borrowed, when they had figured on ninety days as the minimum. The success of the association is beyond the most sanguine expectations of the members and friends of the organization and proves beyond all doubt that it is equipped with the most efficient and capable officers, who have put it upon a financial basis that makes its future success assured.

It is also reported here that most of the holdings of the association have been sold and that another distribution of money to the growers is to be made soon. This will be good news to the growers, many of whom have sacrificed quite a little, to aid in the success of the movement.

It is thought that by the end of the present week that three-fourths of the present crop will have been delivered and that by the middle or last of next week the entire balance received. The Planter's house on Stanford street was closed last Saturday and from now on to the end of the season all the tobacco will be received at the Garrard house only. This was done to curtail the expenses, as the crops could be handled much faster and more economical at the latter house.

Later:—Announcements from Lexington this morning, say that the second half of the loan of $5,600,000 had been sent to the bankers of the burley tobacco district.

Thomas

Mrs. Elizabeth Hurt Thomas, of Lexington, died at her home on 219 E. Second Street last Wednesday evening, March 1st, at 1:30 o'clock, after an illness of six weeks.

HOME NURSING

Many Taking Advantage Of These Instructions

The classes in Home Nursing have become of real interest to the people of Lancaster and vicinity. The Red Cross room has been furnished as a model sick room. A baby doll of the size and weight of a new born infant has been ordered and will become part of the class room equipment. Any part of a layette for this motherless "infant" will be quite acceptable.

This is the first time a course has been offered to the women of Lancaster for instructions in the care of the home and the family. The time is past when women are expected to assume these responsibilities with only instinct as their guide. Anyone wishing to enroll should do so at once. The only expense is for the text book, which is 60cts.

This course is available to any group of ten or more women in any part of the county.

The Red Cross Work For Mankind Never Stops

To Enlarge Houn'

Harrodsburg, Ky., Mar. 6.—At a meeting of the stockholders of the Mercer County Fair the date for the exhibit was set for the last week in July, 25-28. E. Buford Van Arsdall, president; Clall Coleman, secretary, and L. M. VanArsdall, treasurer, were re-elected. Efforts will be made to enlarge some of the specialties that have made the Mercer fair famous—the hound dog rings, the Duroc hog futurity, Poland China futurity and horse show rings.

This fair is unique in that it is a purely community event. The citizens own the grounds and all officials serve without pay and every cent above expenses is put back into the fair to make it bigger and better the next year. The first day is an annual home-coming, with handsome prizes offered by the Mercer Chamber of Commerce.

MUCH WORK

Planned By Chamber Of Commerce

The regular weekly meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, held Friday evening, March 3rd, found all Directors present, quite a few other members and four guests, including Messrs. Blanks, Hunlap and Snooks from the Burley Co-operative Tobacco Association.

A very interesting discussion with reference to Lancaster's possibilities in securing a re-dryer plant, resulted in the unanimous decision of all present that President L. G. Davidson at once appoint a committee of five, to take up this proposition.

An interesting communication from the Secretary and Treasurer of the Cincinnati-Lookout Mountain Airline Highway Ass'n. contained in addition to other items the announcement that one thousand birds eye view maps of this route were being prepared and that a supply would be furnished this organization.

The Secretary read a copy of a letter sent by him under date of March 2nd. to the Chairman, Military Affairs Committee of The House, Washington, D. C., with reference to the Muscles Shoals project. This letter was the result of a decision from Chairman Sam Haselden of the Industrial Committee, in response to an urgent request from the Nashville Chamber of Commerce.

The Secretary was requested by the Directors to urge every business in Lancaster to personally write Division Superintendent Morrison at Paris, recommending Mr. Coleman Lee, of London, Ky., for the position of agent with the L. & N., at Lancaster.

A handsome name plate in white letters on a blue background, reading "Lancaster" was exhibited and all present unanimously voted that every member of the Chamber of Commerce be requested to order a pair of these tags for their auto. If you want to help boost your town, please place your order at once with the Secretary for a pair of these handsome name plates at a cost of seventy-five cents a pair. Fifty pairs have been ordered. Twenty-five members have already agreed to take a set, and we believe every member having an auto will come across.

Will Hopper To Leave Lancaster

We regret indeed to announce the fact that Will Hopper, who has served so efficiently, capably and pleasantly, as assistant cashier of the Garrard Bank and Trust Company for the past ten years, has resigned that position and taken up his residence in Danville, where he has accepted the bookkeepers place for the Danville Laundry and Dry Cleaning Company. He is a fine young man and we take pleasure in commending him to the good people of Danville.

Renew Your Subscription

While hundreds have renewed their subscriptions during the past few weeks, still there are many on our list who are in arrears and will have to be dropped unless paid soon. During the coming term of the circuit court we hope to see many drop into the Record office and have their subscriptions moved up through 1922. Don't disappoint us.

Elect President

At a meeting of the directors of the National Bank last Tuesday, John E. Stormes, was unanimously elected President of the bank to succeed Alex R. Henry, deceased. Mr. J. H. Posey was chosen as Vice President upon the promotion of Mr. Stormes.

New Auctioneer

Mr. I. W. Manley is carrying in this issue an advertisement, announcing his services as an auctioneer. Mr. Manley seems to fit anywhere you put him: is proprietor of the Lancaster Shoe Hospital, preaches every Sunday at Mt. Hebron; marries a couple about every other day and has several years experience as an auctioneer.

He is a live bird, never still a minute and we are glad to recommend his services. Give him a trial.

POOL VIOLATORS FACING LAW SUITS

Burley Growers Who Sold Leaf Under Association Contracts

To Be Prosecuted—One Uses Wife's Name.

Prosecution of growers who have sold tobacco belonging to the Burley Growers' Co-operative Association and of warehousemen who have allowed or induced growers to sell such tobacco will be begun in a few days, it was announced headquarters at the conclusion of a meeting of the Board of Directors.

The field service department, under the direction of Joseph Passonneau, has been investigating alleged cases of violation of contract and will present the data to Aaron Sapiro general counsel for the association.

One of the first prosecutions, Mr. Sapiro said, will be that of a prominent farmer in the central warehouse district, who sold a large crop of tobacco in the name of his wife.

Other prosecutions are planned in other districts, where evidence of illegal sale is in the hands of the association.

Under the provisions of the contracts, the grower gives to the association the right to get a decree of specific performance to force delivery of all tobacco unsold, to get liquidated damages of 5 cents a pound on all tobacco sold and to get injunction against the buyer to prevent further purchases.

The prosecution of the warehousemen will be carried on probably as criminal cases under the provisions of the Bingham co-operative marketing law laying a penalty of $500.00 on the warehouseman for buying or permitting a sale where he had knowledge that the grower was a member of the association.

This provision is intended, according to members of the association, to discourage the use of violence in cases where angry neighbors might resort to it, as occurred during the old pool.

Mr. Passonneau has had agents of the association at many of the open sales floors to warn the warehousemen if a member of the association should try to violate a contract. Most of the housing men, he said, had refused to buy or even allow pooled tobacco on their floors, but a few had gone about seeking to make sales for members of the association.

The activities of James C. Stone, president, in making sales, and of Ralph M. Barker, director of warehouses, in receiving and redrying tobacco, were unanimously approved by the board, by a rising vote of confidence.

Mr. Stone made full report on finances, sales and receipts of tobacco.

"As representatives of the growers, we are proud of the things we have done," one of the directors said. "If it were not for the untiring and skillful efforts of Mr. Barker and Mr. Stone, however, I am afraid the record would not be so good. We are fortunate in having obtained officers of such quality."

Mr. Stone produced official figures to show the average sales so far would be several cents higher than the average paid to growers outside.

Dog Tax Delinquents

Less than ten per cent of the dogs listed by the Tax Commissioner has been tax paid and up to this time no apparent effort has been made by any one to collect this tax which is due, just and unpaid.

The county tax commissioner reported 1,642 dogs listed for license and only 163 have paid the fee and secured the license tags. The county clerk reports that there is $539.11 due sheep owners for sheep killed by these worthless dogs, and not a cent in the treasury. The object of the dog law was to reimburse the farmer for sheep killed by dogs, but unless the officer whose duty it is to collect this tax, gets busy, the sheep owners in Garrard county will be losers by several hundred dollars.

Early April Best Time To Seed Sweet Potatoes

Sweet potatoes, one of the main crops in Kentucky, are best bedded for plants during the first ten days in April, the most favorable date for bedding being somewhat earlier in the eastern part of the State, according to A. J. Olney, horticulturist at State produces about two million the College of Agriculture. The bushes of the crop each year.

Better plants usually are obtained by using a hot bed of some kind although many plants are grown without this aid. An eight to ten inch layer of horse manure covered with about four or five inches of soil, preferably pure sand rather than garden soil, gives good results in the bed.

Planting healthy seed, that has previously been treated, in soil that is known to be free from black rot, scurf and other sweet potato diseases is the only method of controlling these, the suggestions point out. The seed may be treated easily by placing it in a bag or basket and inserting this into a wooden tub or barrel containing a mixture of one ounce of corrosive sublimate or bichloride of mercury and seven and one-half gallons of water. At the end of five or ten minutes the potatoes should be removed and rinsed off in a tub of water after which they should be spread out to dry. The same solution can be used three times, four ounces of the corrosive sublimate being enough to treat from six to ten bushels of seed. Precautions are necessary in handling this material as it is deadly poison.

Disease-free soil can be secured for the plant bed from a field that has not grown sweet potatoes for at least six years. Fields that are known to be infected with the diseases are not safe places in which to plant the crop for from four to six years.

After the roots have been treated, they may be cut in two lengthwise and placed in the bed with the cut side down in such a manner that they are not touching. In filling up the hot bed it is best to place two or three inches of soil on the manure, then bed the roots and cover them with about two inches of soil.

STARTS MUCH SICKNESS

A clogging mass of undigested food that remains fermenting in the stomach or intestines sends the poisons it develops through the entire human body. "Keep the bowels open," is one rule of health recognized by all schools of medicine. Foley Cathartic Tablets cleanse the bowels, sweeten the stomach and benefit the liver. For indigestion, biliousness, bad breath, bloating, gas or constipation, no remedy is more highly recommended. No griping or nausea.

Billions of Fish.

North Sea fishermen handle 10,000,000,000 fishes of all sorts and sizes, from the giant ray to the tiny whiting, every year. The twin ports of Yarmouth and Lowestoft have alone received 900,000 herrings in one season.

If He Did.

"On the Pacific coast," said the traveler, "we go out in boats, and nothing less than a 100-pound fish is considered sport." "Scuse me," said the colored man. "Yo' say yo' fish foh 100-pound fish?" "Why, certainly we do." "Ain't yo' skeered yo' might catch one?"

Dead Sea and Mediterranean.

The old question of the origin of the extreme saltiness of the Dead sea has received a new answer. It has been shown, after demonstrating that the soil and rocks can have furnished but a fraction of the quantity of salt that has collected in the Dead sea basin, that the most important source of supply of this salt is atmospheric transportation by winds from the Mediterranean. This view, it is thought, is confirmed by the fact that the ratio of chlorine to bromine in the Dead sea is the same as in the Mediterranean.—Washington Star.

BETTER CREAM MOVEMENT Going to Many Counties

After successful starts in two counties, plans of creameries in Kentucky to buy cream on a quality basis instead of paying a flat rate for all grades are expected to be developed rapidly in other counties of the State, according to a report on the project. Creamery men in Mercer and Mason counties already are paying for cream on the basis of its quality while cream station operators in a number of other counties are being instructed in the grading of cream and notified to pay more for good quality products.

The cream grading movement is the result of an increasing demand from manufacturers for a better grade of cream. In an effort to remedy the situation in its own locality, one Louisville firm started a plan to pay eight cents more a pound for butterfat in sweet cream than is being paid for that in cream of average quality. So much low grade cream has been marketed in Kentucky that the markets are over crowded with a low score butter for which there is little demand and for which low price is paid.

Suggestions to farmers on recommended dairy practices and the care of cream before it is marketed are being sent out by the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station in order to help farmers meet the demands for a better grade of cream. The producer who exercises reasonable care to see that the flanks and udders of his cows are cleaned at milking time, that all buckets, cans and containers are washed and scalded before used, that his cream is cooled immediately after milking and kept cool, and who delivers his product at least three times a week in warm weather and twice a week during the winter months will have little difficulty in producing a good grade of cream, the station dairymen say.

The best cream will be sweet or only slightly sour, will be smooth and from all undesirable flavors and odors, have a clean taste and be free from. Farmers can improve their cream by studying their own conditions and remedying those that contribute toward the production of low quality products, the dairymen say.

Hart Cattle Feeders

Get Pointers On Tour

As a result of a recent inspection tour taken by Hart county farmers to feed lots of beef cattle men who are cooperating with the College of Agriculture extension division in demonstrating the best methods of handling and feeding cattle, many of the feeders in this section of the State discovered that they were feeding about twice the amount of cotton-seed meal necessary, thereby increasing their costs of gain about 25 per cent, according to J. S. Pullen, county agent. Some of them were feeding as high as eight pounds of the meal a day to each steer when four pounds would have been sufficient.

Twelve feeders accompanied by Wayland Rhoads, beef cattle specialist from the college, made the trip to eight farms where the practical points of the various feeding methods were pointed out to them.

Wayne Farmers

Replace Scrubs With Purebreds. Plans of interested farmers, livestock breeders and the extension division of the College of Agriculture to eliminate scrub breeding animals from Wayne county were given a boost here recently with the sale of 11 purebred sires to farmers of the county in an auction promoted by the Wayne County Cattle Breeding Association. The animals, which were sold at prices not exceeding $100, will be used to grade up the herds of their owners.

Believing that such sales are a practical way in which to rid the county of inferior beef animals, local livestock breeders and interested farmers will promote another one next year, according to a report. The sale held here will be followed by others in different parts of the State, according to Wayland Rhoads, beef cattle specialist of the college.

RETAIL MERCHANTS Of State to Hold Fourth Annual Convention

At a recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the Retailers Association of Kentucky, it was decided to hold their fourth annual convention in Louisville, April 5th and 6th, 1922, at which time matters of vital importance to the merchants in general could be discussed. Invitations are hereby extended to all merchants to be present and join in the discussions and a very lively program is being planned.

The annual election of officers and directors for the ensuing year will also take place. It is hoped that this convention will be one of the largest and best of its kind ever held in this State and they want as many merchants as possible to attend.

The officers of the association are: Eugene J. Straus, Louisville, President; Granville L. Hurton, Louisville, 1st. V-President; Dolph Wile, Lexington, 2nd. V-President; H. H. Rice, Hopkinsville, Secretary; Robert J. Frick, Louisville, Treasurer; Chas. A. Morris, Louisville, Executive Secretary.

Seasonal Tips For Gardeners

Since they mature quickest and can stand more cold weather, the small, round, olive-shaped types of radishes are best to plant early in the spring. Scarlet Globe and French Breakfast are good varieties.

White Queen onion sets usually can be put into the field about March 20th. Frequent, shallow cultivation will be necessary since onions are easily choked by weeds that rob soil of the moisture which is necessary for good onions.

Parsley is one of the best plants to help make food look its best when served. A ten foot row planted during the latter part of March will furnish sufficient garnishing for the average family. Parsley seeds are slow growing, requiring about ten days to two weeks in which to come through the soil. Moss Curled is said to be the best variety.

Eclipse, Crosby's Egyptian and Detroit Dark Red are good varieties of beets, the seed of which can be sown after the middle of March. Since the seed is slow maturing, it is best to mark the row by sowing a few radish seeds in it so that the soil crust can be broken to help the young plants through. The plants should be thinned when they are about two inches high to a distance of three or four inches high to a distance of three or four inches apart.

Since all vegetables make rapid growth which requires large amounts of moisture, much of the garden's success depends upon frequent, shallow cultivation to conserve soil moisture and keep down weed, garden specialists at the College of Agriculture say.

Pruned Grape Vines Give Heavier Yield

Pruning grape vines helps to keep them within the desired bounds as well as encourage the growth of more fruit and larger bunches and berries, recommendations being made by horticulturists at the College of Agriculture point out. It is desirable to prune as soon as possible before the vines begin to bleed heavily although it is a recognized fact that bleeding does not prove particularly harmful.

While grape pruning may be considered, it is well to remember that no fruit is grown except on shoots coming from buds on last year's growth, the specialists say. Growers who are not following a definite system for training their vines will do well to prune them back to two buds which will mean that about three-fourths of the past season's growth will be cut away.

Any grower who is following one of the seven or eight systems of training his vines can get specific directions for his particular one by writing the Experiment Station at Lexington, Ky.

PARIS ON PARADE

Louisville's Second Annual Style Show To Be A Great Event

MARCH 31st. TO APRIL 8th.

Louisville's Style Show Association is making preparation for the most elaborate style event ever held west of New York City. Last year the "Atlantic City" show, which was staged at the big Armory, attracted people from all over Kentucky and Southern Indiana, and those exploiting the 1922 show, which will be known as "Paris on Parade," predict more than 100,000 visitors at the Armory from March 31st. to April 8th., when the big event will take place.

Facilities for handling the vast crowds which are expected will be greatly enlarged and improved upon. The stage this year will be in the center of the armory with runways, where fifty professional models from New York and Chicago will promenade in the fashionable apparel from Louisville's leading shops, extending from the four corners. Seats will be supplied for 6,500 people at each performance. The Parisian idea will be carried out in each of the eighty-five shops of the exhibitors. Each will represent a shop in Paris. Even the policemen, as well as the avenue facing each little French shop, will take on a French aspect.

Aside from the style features of the show, there will be other features of unusual interest which will be announced later. There will be a complete change of program daily. In fact there will not be a dull moment from the time the big doors at the Armory are swung open until the closing hour.

Not only will a number of professional artists be imported for the occasion, but there will be many local features participated in by many of Louisville's club and society women.

PANAMA

Welcomes Kentuckians

Dr. John G. South And Mrs. South Cordially Received At Isthmus.

The following is taken from the Star and Herald, of Panama:

In a special attached to the mid-day train, Dr. John South, new American Minister Plenipotentiary to the Republic of Panama, reached the city with Mrs. South and her mother, Mrs. W. O. Bradley, who came to the Isthmus with him on the steamer Pastores. They registered at the Hotel Central.

The Hon. William Jennings Price, at present United States Minister here; John Charles Kerr, United States District Judge for the Canal Zone; Magistrate J. W. Blackburn and Crede Haskins Calhoun, Chief of the Division of Civil Affairs, all of whom went over to Colon early yesterday morning to receive the new Minister and his family, accompanied him across the Isthmus in the special car attached to the train.

At the Panama Railroad station Colonel Enrique Icaza Fabrega, Aide de Camp to President Belisario Porras; Colonel A. B. Lamb, Inspector General of the National Police force, and many other prominent Panamanian Government officials awaited the arrival on the one o'clock train.

Dr. Eusebio A. Morales, Minister of Finance and Treasury of the Republic, who also returned on the Pastores after a special mission to Washington and financial negotiations in New York in behalf of Panama after representing Panama at the Mexican centennial, did not come over to Panama City on the same train as did Dr. South. Dr. Morales came over on the 7 o'clock train last night.

It was a glorious mid season morning when the United Fruit Company's steamer, Pastores entered the breakwater shortly after 10 o'clock yesterday.

The Pastores was late. The voyage down from New York with the call at Havana was a pleasant one, but at times stormy and when the huge white ocean greyhound came gracefully into Pier Eight it found a large and distinguished crowd ready to welcome to Panama the new representative of the great North American Republic.

Crede H. Calhoun, representing Governor Jay J. Morow was the first man to step up the gangplank and formally welcome Dr. South to the Canal Zone, and when the distinguished diplomat came down to the pier he was greeted by the present American Minister, the Hon. William Jennings Price, Don Ruben S. Arica, Governor of Colon, Judge Charles Kerr of the Canal Zone District Court and Judge James Blackburn, of the Balboa Magistrate Court, the last two old friends of the new Minister from old Kentucky.

"I am glad to meet you, Mr. Price," were the first words Dr. South said in reply to the Minister's cordial welcome as they both shook hands.

Presentation followed and all were charmed with Mrs. South, who, with her mother Mrs. Helen Bradley, and Donald Roger, the new Secretary of the Legation were in turn presented to the many Canal and Panama officials present on the quay.

Among the many present at the lock to welcome the new Minister were Dr. J. D. Dreher, the United States Consul to Colon, Deputy In-cendio Gilando, Commander F. V. McNair, U. S. N., Captain of the port at Cristobal, Colonel H. C. Fisher, chief health officer, and Dr. D. P. Currey, his assistant, J. A. Mitchell, chief customs inspector and shipping commissioner and W. J. Bissell, of the Panama railroad, who, finding the Pastores would arrive after 4 o'clock soon brought down to the docks the drawing room coach, Republica de Panama, and attached it to the 11 o'clock train, which was held over for the convenience of the new Minister and his party.

But everybody was down at the docks, there being R. B. Walker, the receiving and forwarding agent, Captain Calloway, the chief of police and practically every canal official of this side.

Your satisfaction with a Sedan depends largely upon construction you'll never see. Since you can't see it, you want to be all the more certain what's there.

And the chances are you'll buy from the manufacturer in whom you have the greatest confidence.

Studebaker's reputation for fine coach work was established in your grandfather's time.

This LIGHT-SIX Sedan body is built complete in Studebaker plants and is as good as the chassis. It will last, without rattles or squeaks, as long as the chassis—and that's longer than the average life of many other cars. There's nothing flimsy about this body. It has a sturdy frame-work of selected ash, the best lumber for the purpose that can be bought.

Eight stout ash pillars, running from floor to roof, insure permanent strength and rigidity which means freedom from body rattles. The joints of the steel panels of the outer surface are perfectly welded. Doors are hung with great precision—open freely and close with a sound of finality. Windows open without binding, yet are so firmly set that they are rattle-proof.

And unless you choose a Sedan with the quietness and flexibility of the LIGHT-SIX motor you will be disappointed.

MORGAN IS DESIRABLE HORSE

Steady Increase in Weight and Height of Animals Maintained at Gov. ernment Stud.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

There has been a steady increase in the weights and heights of the horses maintained in the stud at the United States Morgan horse farm at Middlebury, Vt., says a recent department circular No. 109, "Breeding Morgan Horses at the United States Morgan Horse Farm." In 1911 the average height of mature stallions was 14.3 hands and of mature mares 14.24 hands. By 1916 these figures had been raised to 15 and 14.3, respectively, and by this year to 15.4 and 14.34.

The average weight of mature stallions in 1911 was 1,025 pounds; in 1916, 1,040 pounds; and in 1921 it had been increased to 1,200. During the same period the weights of mares went from 1,025 to 1,040 to 1,043 pounds.

At the same time, however, the other qualities received just as much consideration as size. A frequent objection raised against the Morgan has been that it is too small, but the steady improvement in scale and weight is making the modern Morgan a handy and desirable horse for use on farms, as pleasure saddle horses, for police mounts, and for cavalry purposes. It has good speed and exceptional endurance.

The government farm at Middlebury was established to insure preservation of the famous American breed, and the stock at the farm is a fountainhead where good blood will always be available. The circular just mentioned contains information concerning foundation animals, the story of the movement to conserve the breed, methods of breeding and management, showing records and the records made by Morgans in endurance contests held in recent years.

Since the early days of the breed up to the present time the Morgan has repeatedly demonstrated his endurance, one of the most desirable qualities in any horse, particularly a light horse. In this publication attention is called to the great reputation made by the First Vermont cavalry in the Civil war. This regiment was mounted on Morgan horses, and official reports made to the War department stated that the horses stood the hardships of the campaigns better than any others. Also, their short, strong legs, round, full-incased bodies, and beautiful heads called forth universal admiration.

The Morgan still has the endurance. Castor, a Morgan gelding bred by the United States Morgan horse farm, made the second best time in the 300-mile endurance contest in 1919. He carried 200 pounds and made the trip in 51 hours and 18 minutes. The next year he carried 245 pounds and finished in 58 hours and 40 minutes, taking seventh place. In the contest for 1921 he was fourth out of 17 entries, carrying 245 pounds and making the 300 miles in 51 hours and 38 minutes.

This circular, which is well illustrated with halftone reproductions of beautiful Morgans, may be obtained free by addressing the Department of Agriculture, Washington.

DRAFT CAUSE OF PNEUMONIA

Just as Essential to Hava Hog Houses
Well Ventilated as to Avoid Closing Tight.

Drafty hog houses are frequently the cause of pneumonia but it is just as essential to keep hog houses well ventilated as it is to avoid closing the house up tight. If the hogs are shut up in a warm building where they become too warm and then subjected to cold drafts, they are very likely to contract pneumonia.

Silage-Fed Cattle.

Silage-fed cattle do not finish quite as well as those strictly dry-fed. Adding corn to the silage produces a better finished animal, that usually brings a better price, and it also results in better gains on hogs that follow the cattle.

Ox Warble Loss Big.

The ox warble causes a loss of $50,000,000 in this country, due to spoilage of hides, lessened flow of milk and slow gains in beef cattle. It is always time to wait the ox warble.

FROST FACTORS FOR POTATOES IN STORE

Jarring and Rough Handling Greatly Increase Injury.

Tubers Freeze More Quickly When Exposed to Rapidly Falling Temperature Than Slow One—Be Careful in Moving.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Jarring and rough handling when at a low temperature greatly increase the damage to potatoes by freezing, according to investigations made by the United States Department of Agriculture. It was also found that potatoes freeze more quickly when exposed to a rapidly diminishing temperature than when the temperature diminishes slowly. There are two general classes of frost-injured potatoes—those frozen solid and subject to collapse immediately on thawing and those that show evidence of injury only on being cut open.

Frost injury seems to be the result of actual ice formation within the potato tissue. It was found that where the temperature of the storage place was reduced gradually it could be carried to several degrees below freezing point before actual freezing took place, and that it was possible gradually to warm the potatoes and restore them to normal without their suffering injury. The actual freezing point of potatoes was fixed at from 2 to 3½ degrees below the freezing point of water.

The effect of jarring upon under-cooled potatoes is considered extremely important to growers and shippers, since under some circumstances it would be entirely possible that a lot of potatoes, or even other products, might be undercooled considerably below the freezing point and escape injury if they remained undisturbed until their temperature was above the freezing point.

FIND USE FOR WAR BRIDGES

Steel Structures Made for Duty in France Now Being Placed in National Forests.

Sectional steel bridges, easily handled and ready for instant use, which were constructed during the war for use in France, have been turned over by the War department to the bureau of public roads, United States Department of Agriculture, and now are finding profitable peace-time duty on roadways in the national forests, where they are used to span streams in connection with roads built by the bureau in forest areas.

The sections were built in two sizes, one 17 feet 7½ inches long, intended for the ends of the bridge; the other 11 feet 3 inches long and designed for intermediate sections. By combining the two kinds, bridges varying from 35 to 91 feet long can be built. The height of the trusses is 5 feet 11 inches and the bridges when erected have a roadway 11 feet wide.

Along with the bridges there have been turned over to the department great quantities of other material, including motortrucks and automobiles for use in road construction. The bulk of the material has been distributed by the department to the various states, to many of which it has been the means of preventing otherwise inevitable deterioration of their roads during the period of high prices.

PLANS FOR ICE HARVESTING

Farm Supply Can Often Be Gathered and Stored at Light Expense—Get Icehouse Plan.

It is time to plan for harvesting and storing the coming crop of ice. The farm ice supply can often be gathered and stored at light expense. Those who have the time and means to build a house with insulated walls should write the Office of Publications, University Farm, St. Paul, for blueprint No. 171, price 10 cents, showing plans for a 16-ton capacity icehouse.

FRUITS SAFE FOR CHILDREN

Whether Skins Are Given Depends on Age and Health of Child and How Prepared.

Fruit juices and the pulp of cooked fruit, baked apples and pears, and stewed prunes are safest for children. Whether the skins are given depends partly on the age and health of the child and partly on the way the fruit is prepared. If the skins are very tender, they are not likely to cause trouble. When apples and pears are baked the skins can be made tender by frequent basting.

Use left-over coffee in spice cakes in place of sour milk.

Serve spiced crabapples or pickled peaches with veal loaf.

When canning greens for winter use, use the cold-pack method.

Come and bring your boy and buy one or more of these gilts, for him. THE BEST SHIP THAT CAN COME IN FROM SEA IS OWNERSHIP. One of the quickest and best ways that a boy can accumulate money and property of value is by owning a good Hampshire brood sow.

We will also have for sale some nice feeding shoats. Every hog in this sale is immuned with serum and virus and should be immuned from hog cholera.

This sale will be held one mile South of Lancaster, on the Stanford road, at the Crescent Hill Farm, beginning at 1:30 O'CLOCK.

HASELDEN & ALDRIDGE

Senator J. S. Haselden Auctioneer.

ANNOUNCEMENT

In announcing this brood sow sale we feel that we are in our readjusting period. There has never been a time during our readjusting period but what the Hampshire brood sow was doing her part.

We have just passed the fourth wave of Hampshire supremacy. At the International Livestock show at Chicago, where for four years in succession Hampshire hogs have won grand Championship over all breed in the car load lots. This alone should be proof positive of the great feeding value of the Hampshire hog. There has never been a better time to buy Hampshire sows than now.

We are not selling under any extreme prices. We are selling Hampshire hogs that any farmer can afford to buy and make a nice profit, raising for the market alone.

We trust that we may have the pleasure of meeting you on sale day.

Yours Respectfully,

HASELDEN & ALDRIDGE.

American Legion News

Adjusted compensation won a decided victory in the nationwide referendum conducted by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce—4,116 chambers voting favorable, 2,657 voting against the measure.

"From the U. S. Chamber's point of view," said John Thomas Taylor, vice chairman of the American Legion's legislative committee, "the referendum was a flat failure, for that body represents the most highly organized opposition to the bonus. By trying to separate the cash feature from the more productive provisions of the bill, and by other means, it has done everything in its power to influence its constituent members against the bill. In spite of this fact, the vote shows almost 2 to 1 favorable."

"The Legion deprecates unfair discrimination—cash and the other features cannot be separated as the U. S. Chamber separated them in its referendum."

On March 4th, American Legion

membership was 108,000 more than on March 4, 1921. New members have joined at the rate of 6,600 a day since Jan. 1st. These figures have been given out from Legion headquarters to refute the statement that the organization is losing members because of its stand on adjusted compensation.

The American Legion has won the first suit in its history, brought to defend its name. Judgment by default and damages were awarded the Legion against Francis H. Shoemaker, alleged radical worker, for statements made in a speech last December. Shoemaker was quoted as saying that the Legion is "subsidized by big interests" and "opposed to organized labor."

Before sunset of the first day, 500,000 daisies were sold in the American Legion's "Daisy Day" drive throughout Massachusetts for funds to help unemployed ex-soldiers. Four daisies brought $125.

Charging that the bonus is attacked "not by those who fought" but

"by those who profited," the American Legion at Marion, O., home of President Harding, has appealed to Congress to look at the facts "in the light of pure reason."

"It will be blown up!" The police at Centralia, Wash., received this treat against the erection of the American Legion memorial building, to be dedicated to men shot down by alleged I. W. W. members, in 1919.

To attend an American Legion initiation, an Oregon rancher trekked 35 miles—18 of them on snowshoes. Wounds received in France did not check his determination to "arrive."

A member of the American Legion or its Auxiliary will sit on every school board in Iowa, if plans of the Legion's Americanism department in that state carry.

Cash payments ran fourth in a referendum on adjusted compensation taken by the Elgin, Neb., post of the American Legion in five townships. At Bozeman, Mont., there were no votes for the cash option.

Repudiating the stand against adjusted compensation taken by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, the Chicago commerce board went on record in support of the bill, following a visit to Chicago of Hanford MacNider, commander of the American Legion.

The ex-service men on the beach at Waikiki needs a bonus as much as his buddy in this country, according to the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce which has passed a resolution endorsing the American Legion's five-fold adjusted compensation bill.

Making expenses by selling chewing gum, an ex-cavalryman is walking from Chicago to Los Angeles to get a job promised him there. "It's 1,500 miles, but jobs are scarce," he says.

The longest wireless jump ever made at sea was recorded when the steamer, American Legion, entering Buenos Aires, picked up a message from a ship off Honolulu, 7,000 miles distant.

"How a man worships God is his own business," wrote Hanford MacNider, Legion commander, answering a magazine article entitled "Rome Heads the American Legion." Mr. MacNider said religion is of no consideration in Legion membership.

Armed with fence pickets, doughy ex-soldiers staged a bloodless bullfight in the Jersey City stockyards to raise funds for the American Legion. The nimble matadors had to jump the fence on several occasions.

Disabled emergency officers of the World War would be retired on an equal basis with regular army officers by the terms of the Bursum bill, sponsored by the American Legion. The bill has already passed the Senate.

Arrested for a minor offense, Gordon Seybold, Onedia, N. Y., ex-service man, says State troopers swung him up by his wrists and pummeled him to get a confession. The American Legion has engaged counsel to probe the charge.

Rheumatism Relief—25c.

Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets), Are Helping Thousands Who Tried Expendive Things Without Benefit. It's Guaranteed.

There are three vital processes of human existence—the digestion of food, the extraction of nourishment from it and the elimination of waste. Poor digestion and assimilation means failure to derive full nourishment from food and that in turn often means impoverished blood, weakness, anemia, etc. Poor elimination means an accumulation of waste matter which poisons the body, lowers vitality, decreases the power of resistance to disease and leads to the development of many serious ills.

Rheumatism—due to some interference with the process of elimination, failure to get rid of certain body poisons—cannot be expected to yield to any medicine that fails to correct the condition responsible for it. Could any reasonable person expect to rid himself of rheumatic pain as long as rheumatic poison is allowed to remain in the body?

Think of this. It explains the success of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) in so many cases where other medicines have failed. Thousands are using NR Tablets every day and getting relief. Why pay five or ten times as much for uncertain things? A 25c box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets), containing enough to last twenty-five days—must help you, must give you prompt relief and satisfactory benefit or cost you nothing.

Nature's Remedy is not only for the relief of rheumatism. It improves digestion, tones the liver, regulates kidney and bowel action, improves the blood and cleanses the system. You've tried the expensive medicines and doctors, now make the real test. You'll get results this time. Just try it. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

Lack Of Sprays Lower Fruit Yields To Pecks

Failure of farmers to check the ravages of insect pests by spraying at the proper time of the year is one of the several main causes for the low average production of peach and apple trees in Kentucky, according to experienced fruit men. The latest census reports the average production of bearing apple trees as slightly more than one and one-fourth pecks and that of bearing peach trees as a little more than one peck. San Jose scale and peach leaf curl are the particular pests demanding attention at this time of the year, according to the fruit men.

According to the latest census, Kentucky had 3,472,936 apple trees of bearing age that produced only 1,280,549 bushels of fruit while her 1,671,044 peach trees of bearing age yielded 459,681 bushels of fruit. While several other conditions, such as soil and climatic ones, contributed toward reducing the average yield of each apple tree in the State to a little more than 1.36 pecks and that of each peach tree to 1.1 pecks, destruction by insects is the particular problem that should receive attention now in remedying the situation, the fruit men say.

Apple trees should be sprayed with a dormant spray of commercial lime sulphur using one part of the material to eight or ten of water in order to control San Jose scale, according to orchardists at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station. Since it is important that this pest be controlled before the leaves begin to appear, it is essential that the spray be applied as soon as weather conditions permit.

Spraying peach trees with self-boiled lime sulphur composed of 15 pounds of lime, 15 pounds of sulphur and 50 gallons of water controls both the San Jose scale and peach leaf curl, according to the station men.

In order to help farmers of the State with their spraying problems this spring, the station, which is located at Lexington, is sending out spray schedules and directions for mixing sprays to those who request them.

Paying For Folly

Only a few weeks have elapsed since the Roma collapsed and snuffed out the lives of many brave men. Yet the incident is practically forgotten.

We use the word "incident" purposely.

That which affects our pocketbooks or our pleasure is vital, and is remembered.

Most everything else is incidental, including the Roma and its ill fated victims.

The government paid Italy a large sum for the leaky old gas bag, when we should be building our own dirigibles and keeping our own people employed.

That it was defective at the time of its purchase appears to have been known, yet Italy got the money and we got the bag, and the widows and orphans of the victims got left.

But that as usual, is incidental.

What we want to impress upon the minds of the people is the fact that we should not buy abroad the things that we should be making in this country.

We have the money, we have the materials that go into construction, we have the man power, and somewhere we have the brains necessary to co-ordinate and put them to proper use.

We've been crawling long enough. Let's learn to toddle.

Sometimes we are inclined to the belief that civilized countries are too humane in their methods of punishing criminals.

Landrau, France's modern Bluebeard, was convicted of murdering a dozen or so of his wives.

Did they inflict punishment for each separate murder, by taking his life on the installment plan, by the lopping off of a leg today, and an arm tomorrow, and so on until each of his victims had been avenged and had properly repented of his crimes?

They did not. They guillotined him quite neatly—chopped his head off at one sweep.

One punishment for many murders.

It seems weak in proportion to his crimes, yet civilization says it must be so.

If a child is trained to take a pride in cleaning and beautifying the home lawn and grounds, that child, grown to maturity, will have a beautiful home of its own.

If it is allowed to "grow up with weeds" there will be an overplus of weeds in its adult life.

Two every day facts worth daily consideration.

Tell The Other Side

When you have occasion to speak of this town, what is the burden of your remarks?

Some complaint, or grievance, perhaps.

The good things of our community life we take as a matter of course. We feel that they are coming to us. We can see no reason for comment. We are mum.

But when anything goes wrong our first inclination is to blow up. Somebody is to blame. Somebody needs a good cussing.

And somebody gets cussed—perhaps.

Having let off steam, we are ready for the next round, and become quite human again.

But let's take a new tact tell the other side next. It is far more pleasant—to those with whom we speak.

Methodist Church Notes

Sunday, March 12th., preaching in the morning at eleven o'clock by the Presiding Elder, Rev. C. L. Hohon, followed by the Sacramental service. This is the third Quarterly meeting for the year, let every member of the church be present if possible and make this the best meeting of the year.

Do not forget that the first week in April is pay-up week for Education and the fourth week is pay-up week for the Centenary. Remember the General Conference meets in May and it is very important that we have three-fourths of these pledges in hand.

The services were well attended last Sunday. If you were not there, why not? God will not accept a flimsy excuse, so why should your church? Loyalty and faithfulness counts with God.

EASY?

Yes An Editor's Job Is Veritable Bed of Roses

Most any man can be an editor. All the editor has to do is to sit at a desk six days in the week, four weeks in the month, and twelve months in the year and edit such stuff as this:

"Mrs. Jones, of Cactus Creek, let a can-opener slip last week and cut herself in the pantry. A mischievous lad of Pikeston threw a stone and cut Mr. Pike in the alley last Tuesday. Joe Doe climbed on the roof of his house last week looking for a leak, and fell, striking himself on the back porch. While Harold Green was escorting Miss Violet Wise from the church social last Saturday night a savage dog attacked them and bit Mr. Green on the public square. Ike Trimmer, of Running Creek, was playing with a cat Friday when it scratched him on the veranda. Mr. Frang, while harnessing a young colt last Saturday, had the misfortune to be kicked near his corn crib."—Meade County Messenger.

Wins Oratorical Contest

John Welch representing Berea College, won the annual intercollegiate oratorical contest in Danville last Saturday evening. His subject was, "The New Conscience."

Leonard Fielder, of the University of Kentucky, who spoke on "The Debt of the Dead," was awarded second honors, with Nolan Carter of Georgetown College, placed third. Carter's subject was "There Is The East."

Cyrus Collins, of Centre, had for his theme "The Posing of War." Richard Cummings representing Kentucky Wesleyan College, spoke on "Peace," and Allen Huber, whose subject was "Our Democracy," representing Transylvania College.

The judges were Mayor Huston, of Louisville; Professor George T. Ragsdale and Professor William F. Bradbury, also of Louisville. The judges were out only five minutes in making their decision. Strother Hynes, Centre student, presided at the contest. Professor W. H. Mikesell, of the Department of English of the University of Kentucky, was present.

Income Tax Facts

To avoid penalty, income-tax returns must be in the hands of collectors of internal revenue on or before midnight, March 15, 1922.

Every taxable return must be accompanied by a payment of at least one-fourth of the total tax due. Extensions of time for filing returns are allowed only in exceptional cases, illness, absence, etc. Applications for extensions under these circumstances should be addressed to the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the taxpayer lives. No extension beyond thirty days can be granted by a collector. Requests for further extensions must be addressed to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Washington, D. C.

For failure to make a return on time the penalty is a fine of not more than $1,000, plus 25 per cent of the tax due.

For failure to pay tax when due or for understanding of the tax through negligence there is a penalty of 5 per cent of the tax, plus interest at 1 per cent a month until paid. For making a false or fraudulent return the penalty is a fine of not more than $10,000, or not exceeding one year's imprisonment, or both, together with the cost of prosecution and an additional assessment of 50 per cent of the amount of tax paid.

One of the most noteworthy features in connection with Tanlac is the large number of men and women who have reported an astonishingly rapid increase in weight as a result of its use. Stormes' Drug Store 11

Program

The Freshman class gave a very interesting program in Chapel Tuesday morning. First was a chorus, "Tuck me to sleep," then a poem read by Ethel Bratton, and the program ended with a song by the class, "Questions."

Rev. W. E. Rix gave a splendid talk in Chapel last Wednesday morning on "Unseen Forces" in Every Day Life. It was instructive, both morally and mentally and was greatly enjoyed by all the students. Mr. Rix visits L. H. S. about once a month, and his presence and also his talks are always greatly enjoyed. Although he has not been here very long, he has won the respect and admiration of all the pupils.

It's up in old Kentucky, Where they never have the blues, Where the Captain kills the Colonel, And the Colonel kills the blues, Where the horses, they are pretty, And the women they are too.

Where they shoot a man for pasture, When there is nothing else to do, Where the blood it flows like water, And the bullet fly like hail, Where the pocket has a pistol, And every hoat a sail.

Where they always have the jury, And they never have the man, Where you call a man a liar, Then go home if you can.

Where you go out in the morning, Just to give your health a chance, And they bring you back at night with fall,

With buckshots in your pants, Where the owls are afraid to holler, And the birds don't dare to sing, For it's tough in old Kentucky, Where they shoot'em on the wing.

Live and Laugh.

A man walked up to S. D. Cochran and said, "Young man, what position do you hold in the Bryantville bank?"

"George Washington And Modern Times."

"My goodness! What a long rest I've had!" exclaimed the nations hero as he walked into a room at his home in Mt. Vernon and seated himself before a roaring fire. Why, everything seems turned around. In fact the whole world has changed. "Hey! What are these bright lights hanging from the ceiling? Oh, Martha! Come here, and tell me what all this means. The beautiful music and everything so different."

Why nothing, George, only people have waked up and made new inventions. Don't you think the electric lights are wonderful? And shall I play the piano for you? "Yes I'm anxious to hear it. Do play for me."

Martha Washington sat down to the piano and began playing some jazz music. "Well this is the limit," said George. "Oh, Martha! I hear a bell ringing." "Yes, that's our phone," I must answer." When she came back, she explained about the telephone to George and told him that she was just listening to some election talk. Tomorrow is election day. George and I do hope Cox will be elected, but Coolidge will evidently win, because since the negro woman has a right to vote, they of course would vote for none but a republican and then the miners will all vote that way.

"Well who under the sun are all these people you are talking about?" Tell me! Tell me! And is tomorrow election day? Yes, and Cox is running for president of the democratic party and Harding is for the republicans—I'll tell you the rest tomorrow. It is late now.

Billy Sunday hits the movies hard, according to a news dispatch. He says: "The movie industry will blow up if they all don't clean house, and not the dubs, who are getting it in bad. The woman game is as dangerous as TNT. No one ever played it and got away with it. Woman's eyes have slain more men than poison gas. #### Manna In U. S.

Manna which fell from the skies last year near Jerusalem, has been received in the U. S. by the Department of Commerce. It was sent by the Syrian Bishop of Jerusalem. The manna is a grayish-white substance which fell during the night like dew and was gathered by placing sheets under trees from which it was shaken when the rising sun had dried it on the leaves. It is supposed to be the same substance that fell for the Israelites in the wilderness.

Duddegar

Friends of Mrs. John Duddegar will be sorry to learn of her passing away. She died last Wednesday morning of tuberculosis. She was 66 years of age.

Funeral services were held at her home Friday afternoon at two o'clock, a large crowd being present. She was taken to Lancaster and placed in the vault, until Tuesday when she was laid to rest in the tioshon cemetery.

For the Perfect Foot—

You who have perfect feet quite likely do not appreciate the fact. You have always had them—you see no reason why your feet should fail you. Yet seven people out of every ten have weak or fallen arches.

Value your perfect foot and keep it perfect for all times—wear the ARCH PRESERVER SHOE with the concealed bridge which comfortably and properly supports and keeps the arch in normal shape.

If your feet are perfect the ARCH PRESERVER SHOE will keep them perfect, if they are not, this shoe will help them.

Church Notes

Invest an hour for the good of Lancaster. Life from one standpoint is merely the investment of influence. What institutions do you as an individual wish supported?

If you believe our newspaper is worth while you support it. If you care to have "movies" in Lancaster you patronize them. And it's the same way with churches. None of these can continue without support. The churches of Lancaster need you. Ever think of that? What would the churches and their influence amount to if every one loafed all Sunday morning and rode all evening? Lancaster is a better place in which to live because the churches are here. Invest an hour in them next Sunday. If you have no regular place to worship, you will be more than welcome at the Presbyterian church. Organized in your town in the year 1819. H. S. Hudson, Minister, preaches at 7:30 P. M. and 11 A. M. Sunday School at 9:50 A. M. A class for any and all ages with an excellent teacher. Come.

Wonderful Picture

At tremendous expense that wonderful picture "The Shiek" has been secured for Lancaster and Garrard county movie patrons, for next Tuesday and Wednesday at Romans Opera House. Don't miss it.

Certs Blanche.
"Fuel for the coal dealer's clerk, proposing to his girl, 'I'll always let you have your own weight.'"
—Boston Transcript.

Derivation of "Ozark."
Ozark is a corruption of the French words aux arces, meaning "with bows," a term descriptive of the Indians who inhabited the country.

Sage Advice.
"Don't walk de floor worryin' 'bout yoh debts," said Uncle Eben. "Do yoh 'travellin' outdoors where mebbe yoh'll find a job dat'll help make a payment."

Medusa's Effect on Water.
In the blue Gulf Stream water between the Azores and the Newfoundland banks, green layers have been observed to be due to the presence of a minute phosphorescent medusa.

Nearly New.
White—"What did poor old Jones leave his son?" Brown—"Oh, he left him the capacity for hard work, which he himself had inherited from his father. It was quite as good as new; Jones himself had never used it."

"Caddie" and "Cad."
To call the boy who carried your clubs on the golf course a cad would be an insult, he is a caddie. Yet cad is only the abbreviated form of caddie, the Lowland-Scott word for an errand boy.—Edinburgh Scotsman.

Changing Colors of Birds.
The color of birds may be changed to white by keeping them in a white room, surrounded by white objects and attended by persons dressed in white, says a naturalist. However, the third or fourth generation is necessary before the bird's feathers are all white.

Both Responsible.
No wife is actually to blame in the thousands of unhappy marriages existing today. From the altar steps to the end of their lives a man and woman must realize that it is a game of give and take all through. No one is infallible, and although an ideal may be found to have feet of clay, no one can afford to throw stones at the opposite side.—Ellis Wheeler Willcutt.

Whence of the British Guinea.
The mystery of that dreadful uncolored unit of Britain in England known as the "guinea," which is abstracted from the pocket in place of the pound, very much to the damage of the metric and all other systems, seems to have been solved at last. Now the pound is 20 shillings and the guinea is 21 shillings, so that it is cherished by hotels and lodging houses because it is divisible by seven.

Housework Scars Reveals Brides.
"Show me their hands," said the assistant at the butcher shop. "and I'll tell you whether they're young brides or whether they've been at the cooking game for some time. 'The young things who've only been initiated into the mysteries of the gas range show the scars of battle. It's a clench that they've got a number of burns. And the hands of the bride will show cuts, too, as a general thing. The perils of housework are many.'"

Roots as Large as Trees.
As a general rule roots extend on each side of a tree to a distance equal to the height of the tree itself.

Power in Confidence.
Confidence imports a wondrous inspiration to its possessor. "It bears him on in security either to meet no danger or to find matter of glorious trial."—Milton

IN BETH'S HOUSE

By MILDRED WHITE

Godfrey Westlake's two sisters sat looking at each other in consternation. "I thought," said Ellen, "that Godfrey was far past the impressionable age, and now that he has actually taken a fancy to this queer Elizabeth Warren, it is trying indeed, to find her so unsuitable. You know, yourself, Mary, that Godfrey is positively fastidious in his tastes. Of course this Warren girl—pardon me, Mary, but I am quite impatient regarding this matter—this Miss Warren is presentable enough, and has undoubtedly been well brought up, but the plain little house that she persists in living in—can you or I see happiness ahead for Godfrey, if he makes that woman his wife?"

"No, I can't," snapped sister Mary, "and what's more I know he would be positively unhappy. I happen to have seen the inside of Beth's house."

"Beth's?" queried the elder sister. Mary nodded. "Beth" is what the townspeople affectionately call her. The interior of her small place is homelike enough, but the decorations! Mary held up her hands in horror. "Atrocious taste," she exclaimed.

Ellen sighed. "Has he," she glanced up quickly, "seen this Beth's house?" "No," Mary answered thoughtfully. "Mrs. Winthrop, who introduced the two while Elizabeth Warren was visiting her, has since arranged that they meet there. Under one pretense or another, Mrs. Winthrop invites Godfrey to dinner, or to drive, or to form one of a party of four at the theater, until he has become interested in the girl as Mrs. Winthrop intended he should."

"She endows Miss Warren with all the virtues and is constantly singing her praise. I think Godfrey's fine position may be responsible partly for his popularity. It would certainly be an enviable position for an ambitious girl to share."

"We," remarked Ellen drily, "have shared it for some time. But, my dear, you need not worry, we are not likely to be dethroned now by that sweetly simple creature. If, as you say, Godfrey has not seen her bizarre home, he will be disillusioned when he does."

"I would not," objected Mary, "call Miss Warren's house vulgar. Crude, rather, in its impossible paintings and wildly embroidered covers."

Ellen was still talking when her brother opened the door and bade them good evening.

"I will not stop for dinner," he said. "I am invited out."

"Mrs. Winthrop wants me to go to Beth's house to dinner," he said.

"Beth!" Mary exclaimed, when her brother had gone, "so it has come to that."

The little parlor of the little house was cozily lighted. Beth left her guests there, while she went to help Cora Linnett in the kitchen.

"Cora Linnett," Mrs. Winthrop explained, "is a poor high school girl whom Beth is helping by giving her a good home for service exchanged."

Godfrey, seated before the piano, paused in the act of turning his music, his gaze arrested by a startling painting of tombstones. Mrs. Winthrop followed his gaze. Then she came, looking over his shoulder.

"I want to tell you," she began, "about Beth and her fineness. That picture, for instance, was painted by a homesick, crippled boy—that she had been kind to, in the hospital. It was his interpretation of the spot where his mother was buried—far over the sea in Ireland. The picture, painstakingly finished, was his dearest possession. Therefore he gave it to Beth, often she has him brought here for the day and he will sit and look at that picture, blissfully."

Beth's friend picked up the riotous pillow. "And this," she smiled, "is old Nannie's gift of love. Made from bits of satin people brought to her, that her mind and fingers might be busy when her poor body must be still. Beth has her over from the hospital, too, when she can, for a cup of tea. And my! that old woman is proud to see her cushion in the very best chair. I think," said Mrs. Winthrop softly, "that it would make your heart glow, Godfrey, just to see her pride and happiness."

"I could tell you many stories—one for that glistening bead basket, one for the picture in the home-made frame. Beth's little house is as full of heart stories, as full as is her own heart of sweet charity."

Smiling, shining-eyed, the young hostess appeared in the doorway.

"Dinner," cried Beth, "is served for three."

Godfrey Westlake's arms went about the girl's shoulders.

"Let us tell your friend now of our engagement, dear," he said, while to Mrs. Winthrop he added: "One does not always find one's ideal—an ideal, indeed."

The Lincoln Corn Crib Encourages Eating More Corn

Out in Nebraska where they have more corn than they know what to do with the Lincoln Crib proposes to store away some of the surplus which corn growers are finding so burdensome. This crib, started by the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce, was so successful that other corn-belt organizations are considering similar cribs.

Instead of being a huge storage house for corn this is an organization of about half a thousand men and women who call themselves the Corn Eaters of America. The purpose of the organization which is making rapid growth is to direct attention to the value and economy of corn and its products as food and to help the surplus of this grain. The only failure in connection with the organization of the Lincoln Crib, according to the Chamber of Commerce, was that there was no banquet room in the city large enough to accommodate the hundreds who wanted to join as charter members.

With the help of United States Department of Agriculture food bulletins and circulars an exclusive corn menu was planned. The first course consisted of cream of corn au gratin. Corn-cake tobacco smoked in corn-cob pipes substituted for Havanas at the end of the dinner and in between were courses of corn-fed Nebraska pork lions, corn saute (hominy) with green pepper, corn on cob, corn bread, corn salad with pimentos, cornstarch pudding, corn cookies, and corn candy.

The critical corn situation was depicted by a play in which King Corn, too feeble to support himself, figured as the chief character. With him sat Queen Minnie Wheat. Characters which depicted the plight of the corn grower were Hard Times, Hi Taxes, Idle Labor, and Speculation, but they finally were crowded from the stage by High Prices and Prosperity. A proclamation was issued by the High Chancellor calling upon all subjects of the King to eat corn once a day.

Members of the Lincoln Crib, appreciating the splendid corn preparations which had been served them at the banquet, pledged themselves to eat more corn and corn-fed meat and to encourage others to do so. The menu of corn foods combined with the play got the message across in a big way with the result that many other cities have requested the same show and plans for organizing corn eaters' cribs in other cities of the State and of adjoining States. Possibly this "crib" helps account for the large number of requests from that section for Government bulletins on different ways of serving this valuable and economical food in such tasty preparations.

Lazy people would find one comfort in living up a tree. They could come down without exertion.

Top Dressing Helps The Clover And Boosts Wheat Yields

Top dressing wheat with an application of about four tons of stable manure an acre in many cases has resulted in average increases of as much as eight bushels an acre in the yield of the crop, according to experimental results being cited by soil specialists at the College of Agriculture to show Kentucky farmers the value of the method. Top dressing quickens the growth of grain in the spring and encourages a good stand of grass or clover if these are grown in wheat.

Top dressing with straw also is recommended provided it is applied early and at the rate of not more than one ton an acre. This practice has increased wheat yields from one to two bushels an acre and improved the stand of clover. If used at this time of the year, straw should be applied only to poor land where wheat does not succeed and where it is difficult to obtain a stand of clover.

Care should be taken in top dressing wheat to see that the manure is not applied too heavily. Coarse manure should be avoided as much as possible.

Many farmers who are troubled with gullies in which it is difficult to obtain a stand of grass are using manure as a top dressing to good advantage, which helps the growth of grass, has been found to be one of the most efficient methods of stopping gullies and washing, they say. If the supply of manure is limited, those parts of the field that are subject to washing could be top dressed most profitably, the specialists have pointed out.

When a man makes a fool of himself a shrewd wife tells him what a wise bird he is. That puts him in prime condition for a touch.

FAVORITE DISHES OF AMERICAN PIONEERS

Ancestors Instinctively Selected Balanced Rations.

Chemists Have Discovered in Recent Years Three Substances Which They Call Vitamins—Importance of Cabbage.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Milk and milk and bread and milk were favorite dishes of the pioneers in America. So, too, was pork and beans. When the first studies of the composition of foods were made, and it was found that there was much protein and fat in milk and much starch in cereals, people said, "See how our ancestors instinctively chose balanced rations." The fact that these pioneers often ate blueberries or huckleberries or raspberries with their milk and milk, and cabbage with their pork and beans, was not considered very significant, say food specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The berries and the cabbage are now known to be as necessary to the balanced meal as the bread, the milk, the pork, or the beans. This is because chemists have discovered in recent years in foods three substances which they call vitamins and declare to be as important as protein, fat and starch. These vitamins they distinguished one from another by the letters A, B and C. More importance is attached than previously to the mineral substances, such as calcium (lime), phosphorus and iron.

In the light of this newer knowledge bread and milk or milk and milk is not a complete ration, because it lacks vitamin C. It is likely also to lack vitamine B and iron unless the cereal used is made from the whole grain. Berries supply what is lacking in the cereal and the milk. Therefore, until chemists discover some new need of the human body, milk and berries, in any proportions that a person would be likely to eat them, may be considered an exceptionally well-balanced though simple meal.

Beans supply much protein, so much in fact that they are often called meat substitutes. Of late it has been found, to be sure, that the protein of common beans is not complete, but this simply shows the wisdom of those who started this custom of serving a little meat protein in the form of pork with beans. Besides the protein, this dish supplies an abundance of fat, which comes from the pork, and an abundance of starch, which comes from the beans. Like most dishes made from dried vegetable or fruit, it is well supplied with mineral substances. It shows only one lack—that of vitamins. The pioneers, therefore, who ate cold stew with pork and beans, added the one thing needed to make the meal complete, for cabbage supplies all three vitamins.

THREE IMPORTANT PRINCIPLES TO CONSIDER IN HOME WATER SUPPLY

One Farmer's Wife Who Would Appreciate Running Water.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

It is frequently said that running water is the pivot upon which much modern convenience and comfort turns, but in a recent farm-home survey, made by the United States Department of Agriculture and the state agricultural colleges in 28 northern and western states, only 32 per cent of the farm homes report having running water, that is, water drawn from a faucet, and possibly available for use in other rooms besides the kitchen. Sixty-five per cent of the homes have water in the kitchen only, that is, supplied directly from a pump or possibly by means of a rubber hose attached to a barrel located inside or outside of the kitchen. However, in 60 per cent of the homes there is a sink with drain, even though in many cases the water used has to be carried into the house by the pump. In 61 per cent of the 6511 homes into which the water was carried this week is done by women. Of 9,779 women answering the question 20 per cent have bathtubs in their homes. The state ranking highest reported 48 per cent of homes having bathtubs, and the one ranking lowest 3 per cent.

A Boon to Farm Women. Single thing brings so much relief to farm women in meeting their endless tasks as does the use of running water. It is undoubtedly the greatest need in rural home life today on more than two-thirds of the farms. The advent of the bathtub, the indoor toilet and other conveniences dependent upon running water bring not only release from drudgery but a sense of pride and ownership which is an important factor in a woman's success in her daily round of work as is modern machinery.

The three important principles to consider in the subject of water supply for the farm home are: It is necessary to have clean water; there should be convenient and serviceable equipment to furnish running water in the house; and this convenient supply of safe water should be secured with economy.

The first and most important consideration is to get a supply of clean water. By clean water is meant water which is both clear and pure. Good farm water supplies are usually obtained from wells, springs and cisterns. Water from wells on farms is frequently contaminated and contains the source of disease. Contaminated water may be the cause of outbreaks of typhoid fever, dysentery and other intestinal disorders among members of the family.

Purity First Consideration.

From the standpoint of economy, all local conditions which would have a bearing on obtaining clean water and putting it into the house with convenient and serviceable equipment should be determined. No matter how cheap the system, if the water is not clean or the equipment is not serviceable or convenient, the investment is a poor one, say rural engineers of the United States Department of Agriculture. Plan first of all to do the necessary work to give thoroughly clean surroundings; next secure the proper material to protect the well. By inquiry as to local prices of material and labor the cash outlay needed can be easily determined. In the majority of cases it will be found that the well or spring can be located and protected by the use of material available on the farm, such as old bricks, stones, etc., with a cash outlay for little except cement, or, in case of a bored well, for iron casing. The same principle should be applied in planning the water-supply equipment. All material and labor available on the farm or in the locality should first be utilized, and only such cash expenditure should be made as is necessary to make the system complete, serviceable and convenient, but this practice should not be carried to the extent of using poor material which will later give trouble in the operation of the plant. Farmers' Bulletin 1041, Water Systems for Farm Homes, gives detailed information in regard to the selection of sources of water supply and pumping and storing water for home use.

Immediate Spray Needed To Get Peach Leaf Curl

Immediate sprayings with the standard dormant application of lime sulphur are necessary if the peach leaf curl, recognized as one of the most serious diseases of peach trees in the State, is to be controlled during the coming season, according to orchard specialists at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station. If the spray is delayed until after the buds swell, complete control of the disease cannot be obtained. In many seasons, the disease destroys almost all unopened fruit, not only causing it to drop but also weakening the tree, the specialists say.

Lionel Barrymore And Original New York Cast At Louisville

TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY,
MARCH 21st. AND 22nd.

Lionel Barrymore in "The Claw" which comes to the Shubert Theatre, Louisville, Tuesday and Wednesday, March 21st and 22nd, scored a real hit in New York City and Boston. Those cities were supposed to like their drama sugar-coated. But Henri Bernstein's play is acid, even bitter. "The Claw" strikes in to the bone. It is cynical, savage, cruel. It tells the story of the infatuation of a famous man for an intriguing child of a girl of how she wheedles and bleeds him, of his debasement and his eventual destruction. E. F. Harkins in the Boston Advertiser says "It is one of the most powerful roles in modern drama. The American stage has seen nothing like it since Mansfield was blazing round the country in 'Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde' and 'The Parisian Romance.'"

Here, then, is strong meat, and New York and Boston playgoers passed by the lollipops in favor of this harder fare. This was most disorganizing to the majority of managers who thought they at least had learned what the public wants and it was correspondingly gratifying to Arthur Hopkins who produced "The Claw." The management of the theatre is giving special attention to out-of-the-city mail orders and out of town patrons will receive the same attention as will purchasers at the ticket window.

The silly age is the time when they know the most.

Some people just drift through life and out at the other end.

And still, Movie Director Taylor might have been killed by a shooting star.

To keep in the middle of the road these days a fellow would have to walk about ten feet in the air.

Baptist Church News

The Senior B. Y. P. U. held a very enjoyable social Tuesday evening of this week in the Knights of Pythias Hall. Mirthful games, sociability, good refreshments and a soul-stirring oration by an old-fashioned Baptist, with all the old-time rousings and mournful intonations, made the evening pass quickly and pleasantly.
Similar occasions are planned for from time to time.

The topic for the Bible study this week was "Miracles—their variety and veracity."

The Woman's Missionary Society are holding helpful cottage meetings for prayer and mission study this week. Our Home Mission fields has been the topic each afternoon.

The church business meeting was postponed last week until next Saturday. A large attendance is desired.

The Overland is still ahead in that auto race in the Sunday School.
Come on, let's keep within shouting distance anyway.

The subject for next Sunday morn-ing's sermon will be "Family Affairs of a Judge in Sodom." In the evening, "Jacob the Bargain Hunter."

Let us forget!—Remember our Convention books close April 30th.
What shall the record of our church be. There are times that test our loyalty and our love for the Master.
Our failure to meet our Campaign pledges means that our Mission boards must borrow money and pay interest until we pay or it spells retrenchment in some of our fields for lack of funds to push the work. We cannot afford to have them do either.
Let us pray thru and we will not fail to pay too.
